I. Lamont Hughes Is Named To Succeed William G. Clyde By Board Of Directors

WILL ASSUME NEW DUTIES ON MONDAY

Has Advanced From Bottom Of Ladder In 32 Years Of Service With Company

Local friends of I. Lamont Hughes will be pleased to learn of his advancement to the presidency of the Carnegie Steel Company, announcement of which was made by the Board of Directors at a meeting held late Monday afternoon.

Mr. Hughes succeeds William G. Clyde, president of the company for the past five years, who tendered his resignation because of ill health.

Mr. Hughes, who is a brother of C. Roy Hughes, employment agent of the Carnegie Steel Company here, and James M. Hughes, principal of the Lincoln and Garfield schools, received his early education in the New Castle public schools, having moved here with the other members of his family from Mercer, Pa., when about twelve years of age.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Local kiddies are extremely thankful that Labor Day comes so early in the month, as it gives them another week of respite before school takes up.

It didn't take motorists long to christen the new Perry highway with an accident. The upper stretch of the road had only been open a day or so until a machine turned over, and the same performance was repeated Sunday evening on the lower stretch, after that section of the road had been opened Saturday.

Pa New imagines the owner of a certain infant flivver was sorry he got too close to the fire at the old Knitting Mill Sunday evening. He had no more than parked when a group of youths gathered around and almost tore the thing apart.

Pa New has noticed smoke curling from the chimney of more than one home during the past few days. The nights are getting pretty chilly and a little fire feels quite comfortable.

A myriad of small bugs filled the atmosphere before the rain last evening, which proved very annoying to local residents, especially in the downtown district. They were not so noticeable on the outskirts of town. They settled on everyone and everything.

Pa New observed a hush-hush license on a Pennsylvania car last evening. It was SH-220.

Quite a heavy fog was noticed in the low places this morning, due to the rains of the past week. Fog has been one thing which has been conspicuous by its absence during the past summer, the ground being too dry and hot to form any fog.

It seems a difficult task to keep the Mercer street hill in good shape. More care has been spent on this street this summer than ever before, but ruts are beginning to form in the

Local Women Sum Up Some Suffrage Results On Tenth Anniversary

Ten years ago today the 19th amendment was added to the constitution of the United States. Men were dubious and solemnly shook their heads. The 18th amendment was bad enough but now this latest amendment giving the right for women to vote! Surely the world was upside down.

But what were the results? What did happen? Were there any disastrous changes? Here are the opinions of several local people:

Mrs. F. S. Brennan of Garfield avenue, prominent in the women voters league, said that no spectacular change has been made in elections since women have exercised their right to vote.

Women of the United States have been cautious with their votes. They WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A $50,000,000 credit program for financing American agriculture through another year was to be formulated today at a conference between President Hoover's drought relief committee and bankers from 12 drought-ridden states.

The program contemplated the creation of local corporations in each of the arid states, with the federal intermediate credit banks supplying the credit to tide the state organizations through the present emergency. Kidnaper Of Young Girl In Prison In Indiana; Girl At Home, Unhurt

(International News Service)

VALPARAISO, Ind., Aug. 26.—Claude Dillner, 27, kidnaper of 10-year old Betty Ann Foster, Indiana farm girl, was back here today facing charges of kidnaping, while the child, unhurt, was back with her parents.

The two day search for Dillner and the girl ended near Elkhorn, Wis., last night. Upon learning of the capture, Sheriff Burney Maxwell of Valparaiso went to Elkhorn immediately. Dillner waived extradition and within an hour he was on his way back to Indiana.

Asked why he kidnapped the child, Dillner said:

"I took her because I loved her. I thought we could go away and be happy together, but I soon realized the mistake I had made. Betty cried most of the time, but I never meant what I said about killing her if they chased me."

Dillner's arrest was brought about by two men who became suspicious when they saw a man and a girl washing their hands on the shore of Lake Como.

They blocked the road with their car and questioned Dillner when he came up, both having read of the kidnaping.

They allowed him to drive on, but when they reached Lake Geneva they called Deputy Sheriff Al Exner who arrested the kidnapper. When the policeman came up, Dillner is said to have reached for a long hunting knife concealed under the front seat of his car, but Exner was too quick for him. He surrendered then, admitting he was Dillner.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

(Special To The News)

TAHOE TAVERN, Cal., Aug. 26.—Well, this week takes care of pretty much the last of the primaries. This will throw thousands in every state back among the unemployed.

Everybody is always asking if women voting has made any real change in our political system. It has. It has just doubled the amount of candidates. The only way we can possibly have more people seeking public pensions is to give the children the vote. We have done it for the wife, let's do it for the kiddies. Children have the same qualification. s for office the grownups have, they are out of work.

Still Two Teachers Short In Schools

Instructors In Domestic Science Appear To Be Very Hard To Secure

With the opening of schools only a week away County Superintendent John C. Syling reports that efforts to secure domestic science teachers for Mt. Jackson and Union township high schools, has proven unavailing. There are plenty of instructors who are able to teach other branches, but when it comes to securing those who are able to show pupils how to cook and sew, there appears to be a shortage.

Prof. Syling has been in communication with schools who equip such teachers, but so far has been unable to fill the vacancies.

Teachers were elected for both schools, in fact there were two elections at Mt. Jackson, but those elected secured more remunerative positions, and failed to accept.

Organization For Armistice Day Completed

James A. Bell Of McBride Post Is Named General Chairman Of Celebration

MANY FEATURES ARE PLANNED FOR DAY

Will Ask Schools And Stores To Close For Day—Parade Is On Program

James A. Bell was named general chairman of the Armistice Day celebration, and committees were organized to work out the preliminary plans at a joint meeting of members of the Perry S. Gaston Post of the American Legion, and Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held in the Legion Home Association building last evening.

Plans were laid to make the coming celebration, which will be a tri-county one, the greatest of its kind ever held in New Castle. Merchants of the city will be asked to close their stores for the day, and the school officials will also be asked to dismiss the schools early, that the children may participate in the great parade planned for the occasion.

In addition to veterans from all the posts in Mercer, Butler, and Lawrence county, it is expected that more than a dozen bugle corps from surrounding counties will be present to compete for prizes to be offered for organizations of this character.

To Secure National Speaker

It is also expected to give prizes to the posts having the largest delegation in the line of parade, and the post coming the longest distance to participate. All these plans will be worked out later by the various committees assigned to take charge of the different features.

A speaker of national prominence will be procured for the day, probably some national military figure.

Two persons were injured about eleven o'clock last night, when the truck of the New Castle Coat, Apron and Towel Supply Company, upset on the Youngstown-New Castle road, just west of New Bedford and near the United Presbyterian church at that place, and was completely destroyed by the fire that followed the accident.

The injured were A. C. Summers of 217 Elm street, New Castle, the driver, who was cut about the eye and Ralph E. Dunne of Youngstown, who was riding in the truck and had his shoulder severely injured. Everett Summers, a brother of the driver, escaped injury.

Loss sustained in the destruction of the truck and its contents is estimated by the officials of the company at about $2,000.

All agencies of the law combined today to seek the two daring bandits who staged a bold daylight robbery of the First National Bank at Volant Monday afternoon and escaped with approximately $1,000 after locking the cashier, Philip Cox, in the bank's vault. Lawrence and neighboring counties are being combed in one of the most extensive manhunts in the annals of this section.

County Detective H. M. Lee, working from the office of the district attorney, Sheriff Frank Johnston, State Police and the Highway Patrol, whose forces have been augmented with additions from nearby posts, blocked all the roads leading from Volant in their endeavor to find the two men who escaped after the robbery in a sedan carrying either a West Virginia or an Ohio license.

Fire Destroys Car Foundry

Bloomsburg Plant Is Prey To Flames Early This Morning

LOSS IS PLACED AT HALF MILLION

(International News Service)
BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Aug. 26.—Fire which was discovered shortly after midnight and which raged for several hours completely destroyed the plant of the American Car and Foundry company here early today.

Loss, company officials said, will total at least $500,000 and may reach a higher figure.

The blaze was discovered in the electrical shop of an assembly building by a night watchman.

He summoned firemen, who soon were forced to call for aid from Berwick, Sunbury and Danville as the flames ate their way through the plant.

The construction shop, machine shop, pattern shop and a blacksmithing shop were razed.

For a time it was feared that nearby dwellings would be set ablaze but firemen concentrated efforts on preventing a spread of the flames and the danger was averted.

The plant employed nearly 400 men and used primarily for construction of mine cars.

Mississippi, Indiana, Missouri, Kentucky and Texas attended the conference. Kansas, Tennessee, Montana and Virginia were also invited to send representatives.

Need Federal Support
President Hoover was to meet the bankers during the day to air his views on federal relief.

The president has indicated he feels the states should set up the necessary credit organizations backed by federal support. If the states agree, the intermediate credit banks would discount all loans made by the local credit organizations, thus virtually placing the government's entire financial power behind the credit operations.

The government will be represented in these relief negotiations by Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, under secretary of the treasury, Ogden L. Mills, Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve board and Federal Farm Loan Commissioner Paul Bestor.

Arthur M. Hyde, chairman of the president's committee, will preside.

Back from a personal tour of the Appalachian region, Hyde declared the relief problem was serious. He said he had observed losses in grain but that recent rains had tended to restore pasture land in the region he traversed.

THE FATHER of a grown family of sons and daughters had been living clandestinely with a young woman with whom he in time also had several children. But as the years went on he finally grew weary of her and began to neglect her and at last failed to provide for her support.

The young woman endured it for a while and finally becoming ill and in need of funds, wrote to the man threatening to start suit if he did not at once come to her assistance.

The man grew fearful at the consequences facing him. He rushed to the woman and after some pleading arranged with her that she desist from filing any suit and he in turn would provide her with money for the support of herself and their children. But after keeping his promise for a short while, he again became negligent and at last the young woman, desperate one more, filed suit.

At the trial the man argued that the arrangement he had made with the woman was an illegal contract and that, therefore, it was void as against public policy.

Police Here Believe Pair Connected With West Virginia Robberies

Information in the hands of the police authorities of this city indicate that the two holdup men involved in the robbery at the First National bank of Volant, Monday afternoon, are well versed in this type of robbery and have been engaged in several similar holdups in the very recent few days.

Messages received over the state police teletype system at the police station starting last Friday and preserved and now held as very valuable in connection with the local case.

The first of these messages received last Friday was to the effect that two men in a Ford coupe, bearing West Virginia license 127-283 had stuck up the office of the West Penn company at Wellsburg, W. Va., and had secured from $500 to $1000 and were headed toward Pennsylvania.

A later message placed the same men in the central part of this state and still sought for various holdup jobs.

When the call was received by the local police station from Volant on Monday two cars started out with heavily armed officers. In one of the cars was Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch and Game Protector Frank Coen while in the other was Captain J. Ed Elder, Officers William McCann, Charles Longstreth and Charles Augustine. They searched the entire district thoroughly before returning to the city.

In 1925 he was made a vice president of the company and in 1928 was named vice president in charge of operations, being assistant to James A. Farrell, president of the corporation.

TWO PERSONS INJURED AS AUTO TRUCK UPSSETS AND BURNS AT BEDFORD

The truck left the improved highway and went into the ditch. It continued along this ditch for a distance of something like three hundred feet, when the driver managed to get it back up on the highway, but as it came back up on the highway, the truck upset and the fire resulted, when the gasoline in the tank ignited, it is believed, by some of the gasoline escaping and coming in contact with the heated exhaust pipe.

The three occupants of the car were still in the machine when it upset and they managed to escape, with some little difficulty, before the fire had reached any proportions.

Traffic was blocked for over two hours, it being about one-thirty o'clock this morning, when Constable Robert McClellan, who had been called to the scene, had the situation cleared up. He was busy during that time in directing traffic through adjoining fields.

All that was left of the truck was metal parts of the frame and chassis.

EVAPORATION AND LATENT HEAT

By ARTHUR DEV. CARPENTER
Evaporation is the breaking away of molecules of water from the remaining molecules on the surface of the water that go out into the atmosphere. This reading apart of the molecules requires great energy. The molecules are known as latent heat.

When evaporation takes place at a point below boiling, greater energy is needed. At a temperature of 32 degrees it requires 1,032 heat units (Fahrenheit), to change a gram of water to water vapor at the same temperature. (A heat unit in the Fahrenheit system is the amount of heat required to raise one gram of water one degree.)

She alleges that her husband refused to let her children by a former marriage visit her, that he treated her with great disrespect in the presence of others, and continually nagged, scolded and reviled her. This continued until it became unbearable, when she left.

Lon Chaney, because of the many strange characterizations he gave the motion picture screen, was known as the "man with a thousand faces."

He was regarded as the screen's foremost makeup artist, and the roles he enacted were those far out of the reach of the ordinary actor.

His greatest success perhaps was in the role of Quasimodo in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." It was a similar characterization that of the cripple in "The Miracle Man," several years ago, that gave him his first screen prominence.

Only recently he completed his first talking picture, and his work in that production promised a success as rich as that he enjoyed in the silent films.

LOCAL WOMEN SUM UP SUFFRAGE RESULTS

Mrs. S. M. Matheny, East Wallace avenue, believes that, during the past ten years, women have steadily increased their interest in politics. Undoubtedly there are many women holding public offices than there were ten years ago.

But it will be many years yet before any great changes will be shown in election before and after the 19th amendment was added. There will be changes. Women are showing their interest in politics. Mrs. Matheny has noticed that in recent years women are more than ever willing to serve on the county committee.

Such associations as the W. C. T. U. show that women are gradually becoming organized for and against certain current issues.

Miss Nancy Bechtel of East Falls street, president of the New Castle club of the Business and Professional Women, when asked if she thought that women would enter into politics more and more as the years go by, said that they undoubtedly will.

Miss Bechtel brought out this point—the women who are best fitted to hold important public offices are the very ones who have not interested themselves greatly in politics. They are busy women who have other interests. The point is to make them understand how really important it is for them to take a part in the affairs of the government.

"I was recently talking to Miss Alice Bentley, who represents Crawford county in the state legislature, about women representatives and their part in the Pennsylvania legislature. Miss Bentley remarked that the sorry part of all is that in the years 1923 and 1924 there were eight women in the legislature in Pennsylvania, and in 1930, when there should be near 15 there are only five. I believe that women should strive to get the type of women that the voters want, interested in politics."

Summing it all up it seems that woman suffrage has not brought the disastrous results that the anti-suffragists had prophesied—and neither has it brought the world reforming results that the leaders of the movement had predicted.

Steer In B. & O. Shipment Escapes

Railroad Finds One Of Stock Missing On Arrival At Punxsutawney

Missing: One balky steer between New Castle and Punxsutawney. Baltimore and Ohio railroad freight clerks checked up their records today and found one head of a shipment of cattle sent to Punxy the other day gone. Where and how the steer got away the men are at a loss to say.

"Cattle trains, under laws laid down must halt every now and then for watering and feeding purposes, and it is thought the adventuresome steer deserted the rest during such a stop. Some farmer may return it, and then still someone's stock may take a permanent increase. But it's at large just the same.

Dorcas Corn Roast

There is now an utterly new and totally different hygiene for women. Not merely another sanitary pad, but an invention of world-wide importance to women.
A sanitary napkin that is New in design. New in material. New and remarkable in the results that it gives. Women by the thousands are discarding old-type pads and adopting it. For it does two things no other pad made now or ever made can claim.
Ends All Chafing—All Irritation!
Developed in the world-famed laboratories that cradled the Rayon industry, it is filled with pure RAYON cellulose. Thus it causes Chafe or Irritation. Hence, no more discomfort, no more irritation from wearing a sanitary pad! Consider what this means.
Its softness is the gentle softness of Fluffed Silk. Its "feel," a contrast that once you experience, will keep you forever from the irritating old ways. Try it. What you find will amaze you.
Patented under U. S. Patents (U. S. Pat. No. 1702530) it is different from any other pad. No other pad accomplishes its results.

Wear In Safety Hours Longer
Made under an exclusive process, it is 10 or more times more absorbent than any other sanitary pad now known or ever known to women.
This it can be worn in complete safety and protection Hours Longer than any other pad yet developed. Consider, too, what this means.
Specially treated, its deodorizing power is far greater than that of any other pad—and thus ends even slighter danger of offense. Discards, of course, easily as tissue.

ACCEPT TRIAL
Go today to any drug or department store. Obtain a box of Veldown. Use it. Then—if you don't feel that it is a vast and great improvement on any other pad you have ever worn, return it—and receive your full purchase price back.

Crime Never Pays

OCEAN DIRIGIBLES

Did you notice how much less public interest there was in the recent trans-Atlantic trip of the British dirigible R-100 than there was in the earlier voyages of Germany's Graf Zeppelin? The heroic adventure of the Britishers was fully equal to that of the Germans, but the public didn't acclaim it as such.

All this may be lamentable from the standpoint of British pride, but it is an encouraging sign to those who view the future of aviation. For it denotes clearly that trans-Atlantic air-voyages are becoming quite commonplace and it heralds the approach of a day when such will no longer be regarded as a rash adventure but as a definite, systematized means of commercial transportation—as much as that of steamships that now ply the ocean's waves.

The adventure of today becomes the ordinary, routine duty of tomorrow. The air pioneers lead the way in the skies, just as Columbus pioneered the way on the oceans. The fact that their daring feats soon sink to the commonplace is visible proof of the fact that their aims are fast approaching the stage of efficiency.

BRAID AND DIPLOMATS

The American Foreign Service Association's suggestion that American diplomats don a uniform at official functions abroad ought to be as popular with Ambassador Davies as some of those senate rules and prerogatives.

We can imagine him, when the movement reached his ears, thrusting his violin under his chin and improvising a rhapsody on the crimes of these evil days. And if he didn't use the name of his girl friend—Helen Maria—in vain we miss another guess.

That suggestion about uniforming the men in the foreign service was advanced most earnestly by the association. It rebels at the shocking thought of an ambassador appearing in public in the daytime in formal evening attire, and can never forget the sight of George Harvey appearing in silken knee breeches. Perhaps it foresees the day when Ambassador Davies or some other dignitary will perforce promenade in Dartmouth shorts for lack of a military-looking uniform.

There is hardly more likelihood of General Davies adopting brass buttons, gold braid and the sword and plumes than that he will ultimately be converted or reconciled to knee breeches. Nor is it conceivable that the government will look favorably upon this proposal and cover its diplomats with sashes and swords.

Democratic America has no need for pomp and show. They belong to autocrats, dictators and that nobility which is noble in name only.

DISCOVERY OF SWEDISH EXPLORER IN ARCTIC

It is a full generation since the Swedish explorer Andree set forth in a balloon from Spitzbergen in quest of the North Pole. Like others who have attempted this difficult task, he vanished into nothingness, and after a time his fate was regarded as an insoluble mystery. His body has been found at last in the icy wastes of White Island. There were many who thought the venture useless as well as foolhardy. Yet Andree was no amateur, but an authority on aeronautics, who planned his expedition with the utmost care asserts the Inquirer of Philadelphia. He fully understood the hazards he would encounter and he made elaborate preparations to meet them, including a device for deflating the balloon quickly, a sledge, a collapsible waterproof boat, dispatch buoys, carrier pigeons, and a four months' supply of food. One message was received from him. But he and his party perished within five hundred miles of the starting point.

Perhaps under modern conditions Andree might have had better luck. No satisfactory engine for any type of airship existed in his day. Even so, there remain enormous difficulties in the way of polar flights. If a diary has been found with the bodies, some definite light upon the tragedy will probably be obtained. In the camp, found by Dr. Horn in the sealing vessel Brattvaag, there were rifles and scientific equipment. The probabilities are that Andree outlived his companions. A Swedish gunboat has been ordered to meet the Brattvaag and escort home the body of the long lost explorer. This honor is a fitting tribute to his courage.

It may be that further information as to the winds of these northern latitudes will now be available. Andree, setting out upon a northeasterly course, evidently expected eventually to be carried north. But apparently the winds never blow directly towards or away from the Pole. In the absence of weather stations, Arctic meteorology has to rely largely on speculation.

MR. ROCKEFELLER SETS A GOOD EXAMPLE

In his capacity as an individual, and aside from his vast business interests, John D. Rockefeller has set an example to his fellow Americans by helping to relieve the unemployment situation in the vicinity of his home. He has placed 200 married men at work on his estate in the Pocantico Hills. This is to include the construction of a larger lake to guard the estate against a water shortage, miles of new roads, homes for his employees and a fine new schoolhouse.

It is true that all these are desirable improvements; but the significant part of it lies in the fact that unemployed men are given work at the psychological moment. There is no surer way of restoring general prosperity than the opportunity to labor; and if thousands of other men in the country were to follow the example of Mr. Rockefeller by speeding up contemplated improvements the effect of it would be felt in every direction. No job is too small to be disdained.

Dictators Get Results.

Close together in one newspaper, you read these items on a happy Sunday morning:

"Four Rob Post Offices: Bandits Disarm Worker, Herd Him with Three Others in Wash-Room."
"Killing in Auto Laid to Beer Gang."

"Bandits get $17,110 On New Jersey Bus. Shoot Hole in Roof. Slug Bank Messengers. Cow 15 Passengers. Driver, With Revolver Pressed Against Head by One of Pair of Bandits, Speeds Through Union City."

And there are at least 100 other, similar "news items" in one day's news. Our crime is a disgrace to the nation, and born of bootlegging, covers the entire country.

It has become an issue considerably more important than prohibition.

An exciting bitter contest for governor in Texas, interests the rest of the country.

Mrs. Ferguson, former governor, whose husband is also a former governor, is running against Ross S. Sterling, newspaper publisher of Houston.

Mr. Ferguson tells his audience they will have "two governors for the price of one" meaning that he will help his wife govern.

Mrs. Ferguson promises that she will pardon all imprisoned violators of the prohibition law. This pledge to release 2,000 convicts as a vote getting measure shows that Texas is not unanimous for prohibition.

Britain and France agree to work for a restriction in war expenses as well as in the size of armaments.

Britain fears that economies agreed on at the London parley may be lost in the effort to get more expensive QUALITY in armaments while limiting QUANTITY.

Poor old Britain finds herself more tightly pinched for money than the French, or even the Italians, or at least less willing to spend it.

"We've got the men, we've got the ships, we've got the money, too," must be rewritten to leave out "money."

If Britain decides to limit cost as well as size of armaments, and we obediently "string along" as usual, we shall not have much armament.

Our patriots do not give their dear government very much for a dollar. One billion in Europe will easily buy in real defensive value, as much as two billions here.

We, of course, "have got the money" now. But what is Britain should send for a gathering of our mush and milk experts from Washington, and tell them we must not spend the money because they, the British cannot afford it.

A dictatorship, while it lasts, creates efficiency. You see it in the French revolution, men in stovepipe hats dominating the battle fields of Europe. You see it in the careers of Cromwell and Napoleon.

And you see it again today in Russia, Italy and Turkey, three nations progressing amazingly because dictatorship and revolution sweep aside tradition.

At the great Belfast automobile race on Saturday, three Italian racers came in first, second and third. Two Britishers fourth and fifth. Several Britishers and no Italians were injured in the race.

Mussolini takes personal charge of Italian industries and tells his people they must never be satisfied with what they have accomplished.

In addition, men of Latin blood seem to do certain dangerous and difficult things better than Northerners, which is sad for proud Nordics.

The German winner of last year's race was barred out this year because his supercharger was a fraction of an inch too big, therefore not standard.

And that German's name is Caracciola showing Latin blood there.

The Rockefeller foundation announces that psittacosis, or "parrot fever" resembles a mild attack of yellow fever.

Ladies with pet parrots should know that "man probably contracts the disease by way of the nose and mouth."

Burying your face in the soft feathers of a parrot is dangerous. And that is true of the feathers, or fur of any animal.

British scientists say our earth is sometimes surrounded by a ring of electricity, as Saturn is surrounded by rings.

Our occasional "ring" causes electric storms that upset cable, telegraph and radio operations and may be responsible for tornadoes.

Method Believed Important In Fight For Stage Reform

Campaigning Clergymen Arouse Speculation As To Whether Leadership Will Result In Inducing People To Frown Upon Immoral Plays

Efforts by clergymen and their associates to clean house in the theaters of New York City attract attention, largely because of interest in the method that may be employed. Comment throughout the country recognizes the conflict between a traditional tendency of people generally to prefer wholesome things and a present-day uncertainty as to standards. Indorsement is given to the campaign in which Cardinal Hayes was the leader and which has received impetus from such men as Bishop Manning of the Episcopal Church, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. And Dr. Harry E. Fosdick is mentioned as an active force. Confidence in their ability to arouse the public conscience is expressed.

"This is fifth anywhere," says the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS, and it is a reckless abuse of the principles of freedom to violate the decency and proprieties of civilization in the name of a great and noble art." The Daily News holds that "as another dramatic season is about to open, the effort to combat commercialized indecency in the theater is particularly opportune." It advises that "the theatergoing public should give hearty support to the movement of the allied religious and ethical bodies against the cynical degradation of the theater."

"It is a worth-while fight. The theater ought to be a place of enchantment and beauty—not a hedonistic wallow," declares the WORCESTER TELEGRAM, pointing out that "the great majority of people can be led to insist upon decency." Quoting Ingersoll as saying that "we shall have to make health and decency and cleanliness as interesting as vice," the COLUMBIA STATE advises that "the cure must be very gradual—a weening of the public from these debased amusements, and making it think that the best amusements are also the most alluring."

With the New York Church cooperation, the SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE contends that "something ought to be accomplished," and urges that "this crusade should not be confined to New York City, although it probably is more greatly needed there than in any other place in America." The DANBURY EVENING NEWS states: "The theater is completely dependent upon the approval of the great majority of the people, and the great majority of the people are decent. Dirty plays will have their fairly successful runs, but the patronage will not continue. * * * There is no excuse for filth on the stage, and it should not be tolerated. Whether it is wise to call attention to particular offenders is to be doubted. And stage censorship is not to be tolerated. Perhaps the highest hope for better things lies in the education of public taste."

"It is time for the stage to clean up," proclaims the HOUSTON CHRONICLE. "Perhaps the influx of actors from the film world will help. One can scarcely imagine Mary Pickford playing in some of the roles which have been so common on Broadway of recent months. Public opinion can put a stop to such a condition by encouraging those plays and those actors worthy of recognition and frowning on those productions which have neither artistic merit nor moral substance. The baseless vulgarity and actual indecency displayed behind the footlights at various Gotham theatres this season has shocked and disgusted thousands of people who proudly call themselves broadminded, but who feel it their duty to draw the line somewhere. New York has been numbed by the daring and aggressiveness of the theatrical producers who have more than gone the limit in portraying themes which degrade."

Studying the position of Dr. Fosdick as a member of the board of directors of the Church and Drama League of America, the DAYTON DAILY NEWS says that "a plan of self-regulation is to be worked out," and quotes a prominent producer to the effect that he "has made a beginning by striking all profanity from the script of his new play," with the result that he is "sacrificing realism." The Daily News concludes that "the majority will gladly dispense with realism for the moment if an oppressive censorship may be averted as a result."

"Many efforts have been made," according to the JAMESVILLE GAZETTE, "to stop the presentation of such plays only to be met with the jering by critics and others concerning censorship. In several cases where police have arrested players and stopped plays or 'revues,' the police have had fun poked at them for their inability to see the 'artistic' and understand the full import of the 'literary rebellion.' But when a great religious organization goes seriously at this business of both censorship and attack, there is likelihood of something more than the ordinary happening and a check to these nasty plays."

"Abuses could not long exist if the people were aroused to a sense of their responsibility and refused to play into the hands of the panders and plunderers," in the judgment of the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION, while the NEW YORK EVENING POST maintains that "the way to improved conditions on the stage is thru raising the public taste."

The explanation, as suggested by the ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS, is that "legitimate drama, making its last stand against the talkies, has degenerated to illegitimacy in a desperate endeavor to attract attention." It emphasizes the fact, however, that "it is the visitors to the big town that keep the theaters going, and particularly do the visitors help to make indecent theatrical attractions a success." The MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL maintains that "the history of the theater shows that no genuinely demoralizing or degrading play has ever passed the supreme board of censorship, which is public opinion."

"Cardinal Hayes of New York," avers the LOUISVILLE TIMES, "does not exaggerate in his assailment of the purpose and character of certain exhibitions upon the American stage. But the public, which supports such productions, either by payment of cash for tickets, or by sneering at Victorian ideal, underwrites the stage as it exists."

Theodore Roosevelt addressing a large Progressive Republican gathering in the election campaign of 1912, criticized the doctrines and methods of the Democratic Party. On concluding his address, a Democrat in the audience who objected to some of Mr. Roosevelt's remarks, began to question the speaker.

"Mr. Roosevelt," he asked, "why are you a Republican?"

"Because my father and grandfather were both Republicans," was the reply.

"What would you be if your father and grandfather both had been horse thieves?" again asked the Democrat.

"I'd be a Democrat," Mr. Roosevelt replied.

DON'T NOD

Often do you not feel sleepy at the steering wheel of your car?

The hum of the motor, the monotony of a long drive, the physical demands made up you are sleep-inducing.

At times you have realized that you were nodding while you were traveling 40 or 50 miles an hour.

You had a destination to be reached in a given time and did not think it necessary to rest yourself from driving.

So far you have passed through such experience without mishap. You may not be so fortunate in the future.

Dozing off for a moment may result in a terrible accident. It is unwise to drive a car when you are fatigued and you keep your eyes open only with a great effort.

Many accidents, apparently unknown, are undoubtedly the result of drivers losing control of their cars during sleepy spells.

Surprise has been expressed that so many accidents occur on a straight road and not on curves which are fraught with danger possibilities.

One reason is that speed on a straight road, combined with inactive faculties which make a demand for sleep, numb the senses, while the care and slowing down required for safety at curves makes for alertness. Don't drive when sleepy.

College Life Of 90's Gay Affair, Ads Show

STATE COLLEGE Pa., Aug. 26—College life in the gay nineties was rather lively affairs, to reconstruct the scene from the advertisements of the decade. The "popular game of Halma" for adults and children, is offered for one dollar postage prepaid in the 1890 issue of La Vie. Penn State year books which "the students preparing for the 75th anniversary of the Pennsylvania State College are now searching for early data. There is the advertisement of a dealer in dry goods who is also offering for sale drugs, medicines, paints, oils, and a full line of furniture.

First class horses and good buggies are available at "the lively stables" throughout the ten years, with axle grease and harness oil prominent in the ads. Gasoline first appears in 1899 among the "also obtainables" in the fine print of an ad which features axle grease and harness oil.

Though the horse was king on the road, the 90's were little removed from our mode of life. Green's Pharmacy could take its place in spirit at least, with the present drug stores. Its advertisements include "we invite orders for: drugs, perfumes, toilet soaps, brushes, chemicals, fishing tackle or anything usually kept in a first class drug store." Sparkling ice cold soda water is the feature of another drug store advertisement. Laundries, too, seem to have changed but little with the passing of the years. An

Nearly 1,200 Camp Sites In National Forests-Bolsinger

Motor Club Head Says Well-Located Spots In National Forests

There are approximately 1,500 designated camp grounds in the National Forests, and nearly 1,200 of these are equipped with facilities contributing to public health, comfort and minimum fire risk, according to R. W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association.

Mr. Bolsinger pointed out that these well-located spots in the National Forests offer an ideal vacation spot for the motorists who desire to "get back to nature."

The statement continues: "According to a report of the Forest Service, the average pleasure-seeking visitor to the National Forests likes to be reasonable wild and woolly. But although he wants to get back to nature, he has developed certain standards of comfort, neatness, sanitation, and care in the use of fire, not always attainable in the open forest. Moreover, contrary to popular belief, he is strongly gregarious in disposition and likes to camp in the neighborhood of others of his kind."

"These tendencies have made it possible to reduce the hazards to public health and property which otherwise would result from the presence of millions of people in the National Forests each summer. By making available suitable campgrounds, with adequate sources of pure water supply, equipment for garbage disposal, fire prevention facilities, sanitary utilities, and attractive surroundings, a concentration of visitors is achieved voluntarily and danger to public health and property is held within safe limits. At the same time the comfort and pleasure of the visitors is measurably enhanced and the social value of the National Forest is increased proportionately."

ECONOMICAL TO BUY...TO DRIVE... TO OWN...

Important as first cost may be in the selection of a motor car, first cost certainly is not more important than the economy which can only be measured in terms of driving and owning a car over a period of time.

Such sound economy, the kind that has won nation-wide favor for Oldsmobile, is actually nothing more or less than a reflection of its staunch dependability.

If you want to know how thoroughly dependable Oldsmobile is, just examine the sturdy, enduring construction of the car itself... its big, powerful engine, so remarkable for efficiency and simplicity... its staunch, dependable chassis, with quiet, easy-acting clutch, steering, and gearshift; positive-acting, weatherproof, four-wheel brakes; long, flexible springs and four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers. Inspect Oldsmobile's roomy, luxurious body by Fisher—with all its desirable features of style, strength, comfort and convenience.

If you want to know how important these things are to fine performance and comfortable, care-free travel, just take the wheel of an Oldsmobile and drive.

And if you want to know about the satisfaction Oldsmobile gives over the months and miles, make inquiries among your friends who drive this car.

Then you'll realize why Oldsmobile has earned the reputation of being so dependable. And when you consider these facts in the light of Oldsmobile's surprisingly moderate price, you, too, will say that Oldsmobile is a truly economical motor car... to buy... to drive... to own.

TURNING THE TIDE

The margin between success and failure is often very small.

In most cases just some little thing will often turn the tide from failure to success.

The reverse is also true.

A little money saved, and ready for a critical moment, may at some time in your life be like the floating board to the drowning man.

20% MORE HEAT FROM TON OF COAL

Steel-riveted Lennox Torrid
Zone Furnace Has Extra Large Radiator—And It's Gas-tight

Many home owners report a yearly saving of from $30 to $50 in fuel since buying a Torrid Zone Warm Air Furnace. The special oil-burning model saves even more, and is recommended by all oil burner manufacturers.

Design as much as construction is responsible for this economy. The steel plate, which is hot-riveted and cold-calked to prevent leaking of gas, smoke, or dust, conducts heat more quickly than cast iron and is more durable. But it is the efficient design of the fire-pot and radiator which gets more heat from fuel.

The deep fire-pot insures better combustion. The oversized radiator makes the gases and smoke escaping from the fire-pot travel from 15 to 20 feet before going up the chimney—squeezing from them every last possible bit of heat.

There are seventy-nine different Torrid Zone types and sizes for heating every different type and size of building—and they burn and save hard coal, soft coal, coke, lignite, wood, gas or oil. Made by the Lennox Furnace Company, Syracuse, N. Y.—Marshalltown, Iowa—Toronto, Canada.

Keep Your Child Well; Look Out For Yourself

With health attention being properly centered upon the school child at this particular season of the year, older people must also be made to realize that the physical welfare problem is by no means limited to the youngsters, important as that particular phase may be," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"Indeed, one has but to be observant to realize that, despite the onward march of medical science and preventive medicine, many people are far from enjoying the vigorous health and vitality which should be their just due.

"Now the strange thing about this situation is that however solicitous health officials and health agencies may be regarding this matter, their power to help is practically nil. Public health concerns itself with the safety of the water and milk supplies, with the control of communicable diseases and with other mass sanitary problems, but it manifestly is impotent to supervise individual habits or concern for health.

"One would naturally imagine that this world being what it is, every person would make a maximum effort to remain in as long as possible. However, judging from the habitually foolish habits and impositions indulged in by otherwise sensible and calculating persons, just the opposite impression is frequently given.

"Therefore, having the child physically checked up prior to his entrance to school, it would be exceedingly good business also to check up one's own method of living and physical condition. Your physician is the one to give you expert advice in these matters, which probably represent the most important interest of your life.

"Perhaps it is too much food, or too little. Again, it may be too little sleep or too little exercise. Or, it may be one or more of the many other types of enervating excesses. The correction of these things may give one that extra lease on life and an additional joy of living which does not now exist.

"Life is a magnificent journey if one will make it so, but health is essential to appreciate it at its utmost.

"Keep the child well, certainly. But your job is by no means finished unless you are exercising every effort to do the same for yourself. Check up now, get your doctor's instructions. And govern yourself accordingly. It's a great life! Why sacrifice it because of remediable foolishness?"

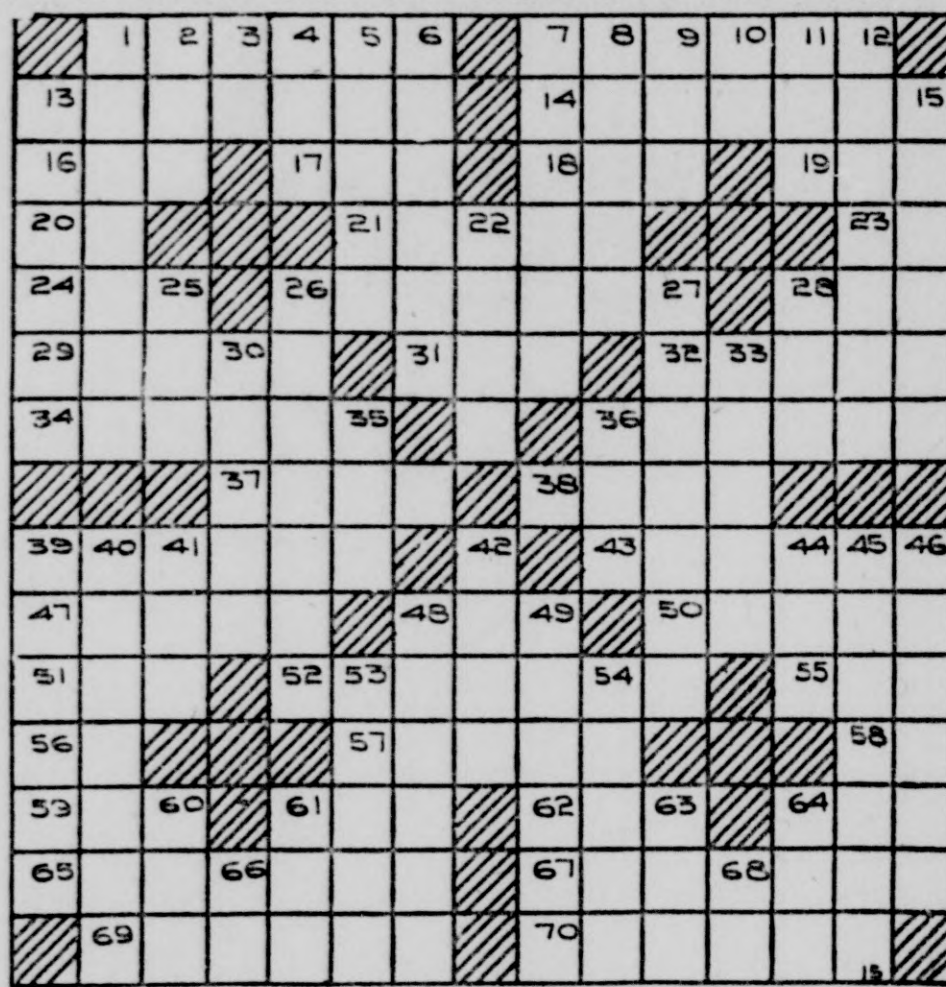

Mother Of Six Gets Jail Term

Claimed Boarders Were "Assessed" To Provide Liquor

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 26.—Refused a new trial by Judge William Parker, Mrs. Josephine Marian of Oil City, who conducted a boarding house for railroad employees engaged on the new bridge over the Allegheny river, was fined $500 and sentenced to three months in the county jail.

Witnesses produced in behalf of the woman declared they had never heard complaints of the conduct of her boarding house and that she and her parents bore a good reputation. She is the mother of six children. The woman admitted the presence of liquor in her home and during her trial it was brought out that boarders were "assessed" 75 cents to $1 a day for liquor whether or not they drank.

Peter's Adventures

SOMETHING WRONG!

If someone had given the Ants a pound of sugar for a feast, they could have been no more excited than at Peter's offer to help them carry their burdens. For one awful moment Peter fancied he was going to be smothered. With hoarse cries the Ants again pressed round him. Then Peter saw the Ants and turned their backs and were bending over snatching at the white bundles that they had carefully laid on the ground beside them. A number of Ants on the outer edge of the crowd scuttled off as if for dear life, with their white bundles. More stood their ground, glaring at Peter. Peter was puzzled. What in the world had he said or done. Their manner toward him had changed in the twinkling of an eye. It had been so friendly. No one would have thought he was indeed an enemy.

"What can the matter be?" asked Peter, of his companion. "Are your relatives mad or scared? But before Ant could answer, the fat Queen took command of the situation. This time she spoke directly to the Ant who had brought Peter.

Well, Busy, what does this mean? What have you to say for your friend now? Do you approve of what he has just said? Is he honest? Can he be trusted? Does he really wish to help us, or is he trying to worm his way into our good graces that he may harm us? His idea may be good or it may be bad. You brought him here, Busy! You ought to know what his intentions are. Come on, Busy, speak up! We'll take your word for it."

Slayer Takes Life For His Baby's Sake

No One Can Say Her Father Was Hanged, Declares His Farewell Note

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—In order that no one could ever taunt his daughter with the remark "they hanged your father," William "Red" O'Brien cheated the hangman by committing suicide in his cell in the death row of San Quentin prison.

O'Brien was sentenced to hang for killing William C. McFarlin during a robbery in Oakland last summer. Two accomplices have already been hanged.

Six months before he was to be executed, O'Brien took poison. He left the following note for his wife, Jane O'Brien:

"I have changed my mind about going up there and letting them hang me. I intend to kill myself in a little while and save them the trouble of doing it."

Stuffed Cries for Aid.

"I was glad to see Rene and the baby today and after seeing them I felt pretty blue."

"I sure hope I make a success of this so nobody will ever tell her when she grows up that her father was hanged. Or tell you either."

"Say good-by for me to all of your people and to Rene herself."

"It is 12 o'clock, so I am going in a few minutes. Good-by, my dear, and I wish you all the luck and happiness in the world."

"Your loving husband."

At the end of the letter were 17 crosses, indicating kisses for the baby, and 12 more, marked "for Jane."

Guards said the position of O'Brien's body and the expression of his face indicated he died in terrible agony, waging a terrific battle against the desire to cry out and attract attention.

Lolly Pop Dolls, Jugs, Baskets And Purses Made By Playground Children

Hours of diligent work on the part of several hundred children who attended the seven city playgrounds throughout the summer have materialized in a number of unique and attractive objects on display in a window of the Pennsylvania Power company.

Under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Mackey, industrial supervisor of the city playgrounds, and with the cooperation of the playground teachers, the children created yarn and twisted crepe pocketbooks of original and pretty designs; they made rope crepe baskets, woven over rolled oats and boxes; they decorated flower pots; they made pickle jars into things of beauty that would add to the attractiveness of the most beautiful of homes; they dressed dolls in brilliant crepes, with ruffles and tucks and pretty waist lines.

These children showed amazing aptitude in handicraft. They were often more interested in getting to the playground for the purpose of doing more work on their projects than for the purpose of tecting on the see-saws, or sliding down the "slidy" or playing in the sand.

They did the work voluntarily. The city of New Castle furnished all the material to work with except the bottles and pickle jars that the youngsters themselves furnished, according to Miss Mackey. And were they proud of the results of the summer's work? Well, rather!

In the window exhibit there are lolly-pop dolls—lanky legged, Dutch faced misers; but nevertheless very charming. They were made of lolly-pops and wires. Then there are wall hangings. Boys were especially interested in making these wall hangings—and they certainly deserve a flock of "A" pluses for the work.

Then also there are woven jugs, cross stitched on canvas. One of the very pretty cross stitch designs was made by 11-year-old Charlotte White-man at the Franklin playground.

For several summers the children have been instructed in handicraft work and have produced some noteworthy curios, but this summer was unique for the fact that many of the things made were new projects from the previous summers. Never before have the children made the woven pocketbooks, the cross stitch work or the wall hangings.

The exhibits came from the Gaston, Croton, Franklin, Rose avenue, McGill, West Side and McCleary playgrounds.

PRESIDENT LEGUIA OF PERU IS HELD VIRTUAL PRISONER

The action was taken, it was believed following a Junta council and by demand of powerful factions that Leguia and a number of his political followers be brought to trial on charges of conducting the government contrary to constitutional provisions. In the eleven uninterrupted years since Leguia seized the power by a bloodless coup d'Etat, he has ruled Peru with a will so dominant that he gained for himself the cognomen "iron ruler."

May Try Coup

Panama, Aug. 26.—Possibility of a lightning-like counter coup, sprung at a propitious moment to reassert himself back in power was foreseen today with advice from Chile that Augusto B. Leguia, deposed president of Peru, remained within the borders of his own country.

Contradictory reports from Lima, the Chilean dispatches declared that the Peruvian cruiser Almirante Grau supposedly carrying Leguia, the "iron man of Peru" who swung dictatorial power over the land for eleven years, still rode at anchor in the harbor of Callao, Peru. The information vastly increased current belief that far from fleeing from the country without a struggle, Leguia remained close at hand perfecting plans for another daring seizure of governmental power after the manner of his bloodless coup in 1919.

The cruiser Almirante Grau, with the deposed president and his family aboard, was earlier reported plowing its way through the Pacific toward Panama, where Leguia planned to live in retirement.

The military Junta which took over control of the government after the fall of the Leguia regime on the heels of rebellion in the south of Peru, meanwhile clamped down a strict censorship on all channels of communication, rendering difficult any insight into the true state of affairs within the South American nation. However, it was believed that most disorders have been quelled.

Rigid Censorship

Buenos Aires, Aug. 26.—Rigid censorship was established in Peru today by the military Junta which assumed control of the government after the fall and hasty departure from Lima of President Augusto B. Leguia.

Unconfirmed reports said the deposed executive who ruled the country for eleven years with an iron hand was fleeing to Panama with his family aboard the Peruvian cruiser Almirante Grau. He was guaranteed safe conduct by the Junta headed by general Manuel Ponce upon consent to resign at once at dawn yesterday after his cabinet had tendered its resignation in a body.

Sporadic disorders in Lima followed departure of Leguia but late information indicated that all disorders had been quelled. Mobs shrieking for vengeance against the ousted politicians clashed with police, resulting in some casualties. The home of the fallen president was invaded but the mob was repulsed by servants armed with guns. The residence of former minister Gamio was sacked.

A near tragedy occurred at the city prison when political prisoners, refused their freedom when the government collapsed, attacked the guards and started a fire, several shots were fired before order was restored.

MARYLAND MAN KILLS TWO AND WOUNDS INFANT

Mrs. Wilson, 23, and mother of three children, was hit in the back, dying of her injuries soon after. The baby had three fingers shot off and some of the shots are believed to have entered her body.

The five year old son of Mrs. Wilson, Donald, was asleep on a davenport in the room and was not hit. Boozie escaped toward Cambridge Creek. A posse which started in pursuit believes he ended his life there and are searching for his body.

Slayer Surrenders

Cambridge, Md., Aug. 26.—Stricken with remorse and fear of a posse of 100 armed officials and citizens, Gorman Boozie, 33-year-old carpenter, surrendered to Dorchester county officials here early today and confessed the slaying of his wife, Nettie, 30, and the fatal shooting of a neighbor woman, Sheriff Ira Wheatley made the arrest.

Stealthily creeping up to the window of a house in which his estranged wife ministered to their 15-month-old baby, Boozie poked a shotgun through an open window last night and fired twice, officials charged. The first shot struck Mrs. Boozie in the chest, killing her. The second fired two fingers from the hand of her infant daughter she was nursing at the time. A second shot resulted in the death of Mrs. Nancy Wilson, 40, at whose home Mrs. Boozie had sought refuge after a quarrel with Boozie six weeks ago.

Is Remorseful

The infant is in a precarious condition in the local hospital. Boozie fled after the double shooting and a posse was quickly organized. An all-night search ensued, but Boozie escaped the infuriated searchers by surrendering. He confessed the crimes, Sheriff Wheatley said. "I didn't mean to kill Mrs. Wilson," he told the sheriff.

The couple separated following several bitter quarrels over Mrs. Boozie's church activities, according to the story Boozie told Wheatley. Later Mrs. Boozie told her husband arrested on a desertion charge and demanded that he support her and their five children.

May Claim Records Found With Andree

Sister-In-Law In Pittsburgh Does Not Believe Any Other Relatives Living

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—While the body of Solomon Augustus Andree, Swedish balloonist and polar explorer, was being brought to Tromsø, Norway, today, a sister-in-law of the interred arctic aerial voyage, Mrs. Clara Andree of this city, stated her intention of learning what disposition would be made of the various equipment and paraphernalia found with Andree's body in the frozen north.

The bodies of Andree and two companions, who attempted the first polar flight in history 33 years ago, were not found until August 8 last.

Mrs. Andree, seeking to learn whether there are any relatives of the explorer still surviving, said it was impossible that a sister in Sweden may be living. The sister, if she be alive, could be more than 70 years old. Andree would have been 66 had he lived.

Should no relatives be found in Sweden, Mrs. Andree said she intends to claim the equipment, books and dairies found near Andree's body and also may claim the body.

The explorer often wrote about proposed flight to his brother, William. Mrs. Andree's husband said she said she quoted her late husband as saying:

"It's a foolish idea. I wish my brother would give up such absurd thoughts for he will lose his life sometime. I'm afraid."

"We would like to receive the books and other things found," Mrs. Andree said. "I hardly think his sister in Sweden lives to claim them. We have written for information to the navy department, and to Swedish government officials."

The equipment found with Andree's body is reported to consist of moccasins, rifles and scientific instruments. Jacob Andree, father of Solomon Augustus, and the explorer's half-brother, Henry W. Andree are buried in the Andree family plot in the local German Lutheran cemetery.

THIRTY WOMEN SEE VALUE OF CANNING FRUIT THIS SUMMER

Never Before Has Sugar Been so Low in Price and Fruit is Plentiful

A glance at the overflowing fruit markets and then at the low price of sugar proves conclusively that 1930 is the year to put up fruit. Of course the more that is canned the bigger the financial gain, but even a few jars of preserves and glasses of jelly stored away will help cut food bills next winter.

Pickles and relishes made of cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage and watermelon rind are also economical to put up. Their spicy tart-sweet goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Canned fruit has a place in the balanced diet. Most of them are rich in vitamins. For children, canned fruit is an ideal breakfast dish or a fitting dessert.

Beyond a doubt, the housewife who puts up plenty of fruit this summer will find that its consumption next winter will help keep her family well and save her money. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Shall Children Wait To Choose Religion?

Every now and then someone writes me or tells me that the child should not be exposed to religion until he is old enough to choose selectively the kind of religion he wishes to espouse.

On its face this proposition seems to be sound. But if you explore a little you will see how impractical it is, in case you are interested that the child shall ever join a church. (Maybe he shouldn't!)

By the time the child is old enough to think such matter through entirely alone (if it were really possible to do so) he is not likely to be interested in any organized form of religion. Religion, or even a particular creed, is not much a matter of logic anyway. Some of us fool ourselves that there is clear reasoning back of our particular brand of faith. Chiefly it is a matter of the family into which we happened to be born, and the other friends we have admired.

Why not admit that it is primarily a family matter? Why not go farther and purposely try to make it such?

All else equal, the happiest family is the one all of whom are members of the same church, where the children just naturally embrace the faith of their parents and do so not because their parents wish them, but because they choose to do so. Even then the child's choice may not be (indeed rarely is) his choice though he thinks it is. You and I can never be sure we are making any choice wholly independently, though we may be very sure we are.

So far as I am personally concerned a particular religious "faith" is relatively unimportant in proportion to my family's solidarity.

Of first importance it is that the married pair are of the same particular "faith" before marriage and, if not, to compromise on one before any children arrive. We can further future happiness of our children and their families as we hold this ideal up to them long before they grow interested in mating.

No matter how tolerant two parents are of each other's faith, they cannot quite approach an ideal relationship for the religious welfare of their children if they remain members of different religious sects, unless at least they attend the same church and go with their children to its Sunday school.

Children who as a matter of habit go from early years with their parents to Sunday school or church or both, and who live together with their parents happily, learning to esteem them, tend to become members of that church. As they do the family unity is to that degree cultivated.

When I speak to young folk, whether their parents are Jewish, Catholic or of a particular sect of Protestants, I say: "If you are seeking greatest happiness for yourself and your family join the church of your parents." But to their parents I advise: "Take it for granted that your children will naturally join your church; but if they don't choose to do so, or to join any other church, don't make them feel they have dishonored you. Just assure yourself that you have not made your religion mean enough to them to make them want to choose it. In a happy family every member chooses and as a rule, all choose in the same general direction."

Vaccinate Your Child In Infancy

By LOGAN CLENDENING M. D.

Yesterday it was pointed out in this column that the most important single thing that can be done to protect the children for a safe and healthy school year is to protect them from contagious diseases.

How can you do this? By creating an artificial immunity. I tried to explain yesterday that adults become immune to contagious diseases by contact. Either by having the disease itself or by coming in contact with some of the germs, which cause it. In this latter case they may not actually have an attack of the disease. They may suck in some of the weak germs, and by killing them off with their known body juices, create an immunity by natural vaccination.

There are a few diseases to which we can create an artificial immunity. Unfortunately the hysterical preaching of cranks has made many people afraid of the method. Yet never was it more necessary to insist once more on the value of vaccinating every child against smallpox.

It used to be the habit of every household to vaccinate every child when it arrived at a certain age. The family physician advised it and saw to it that it was done. This excellent practice is falling into disuse. Smallpox has so nearly disappeared due to universal vaccination in the nineteenth century, that people are no longer conscious of the necessity of vaccination. The family doctor, unfortunately, is becoming something of a rarity. The denseness of population makes the universal enforcement of the vaccination by law almost impossible.

Hence, there has not been a time for many years when the country was so excellently prepared for a monstrous epidemic of smallpox.

"My baby is too young to be vaccinated," says one mother.

Dr. William Osler, one of the greatest physicians of our days, said in his text book on medicine that a child should be vaccinated when it is six months old.

"The idea of vaccination is just a part of the medical profession's graft—an easy way to make money," says another. The usual charge for vaccination is a dollar. You can get it done free by your city or county health officer. Most doctors are glad to do it at cost because it prevents disease. So there is no graft in it.

Not long ago, in my own city, an epidemic of malignant smallpox—so-called black smallpox—broke out. It became pretty serious. Our offices were crowded with people who had never been vaccinated. Some of them 25 and 30 years old.

I saw the patients in this epidemic in the city hospital. All those who had it in a violent and serious way had never been vaccinated. No one who has been vaccinated within a few years contracted the disease.

Those who had been vaccinated even as long ago as 20 years before, and who contracted the disease, had it in a mild form.

Everyone should be re-vaccinated every seven years.

Every child should be vaccinated before entering school.

Vaccination against smallpox is so efficient that it is put to the test of the most hideous, disgusting, dangerous and (because it so often causes blindness) crippling of diseases.

To neglect vaccinating your child is stupid.

LEGION WOMEN ORGANIZE NEW MOTOR CORPS

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Organization of a motor corps of at least 100 women drivers is underway by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The motor corps, to which many of this city's leading society women have already joined, is being organized for service during the annual National convention of the American Legion and its affiliated organizations during October. The drive for members is headed by a committee of auxiliary members headed by Mrs. Edmund Dewing of Wellesley as chairman.

The corps will conduct private tours to Concord and Lexington and various interesting historical spots throughout the state. During the legion parade they will serve as drivers for distinguished guests and officials and disabled veterans.

Scores of information booths are being erected throughout the city and on all important roads leading to the city for the safeguarding of legionnaires and guests. Construction of these booths is under the direction of a committee, headed by William J. McMorris.

For visitors coming from the South, booths are to be established at Providence, R. I., Attleboro and West Roxbury; in the central part of the state's booths will be at Springfield, Worcester and Brookline. On the Mohawk Trail route there will be booths at Fitchburg and the outskirts of the city and on the Turnpike road at Newburyport and Malden.

Hence, there has not been a time for many years when the country was so excellently prepared for a monstrous epidemic of smallpox.

Indiana Bank Official Held As Embezzler

State Bank Examiners Close Hammond, Indiana, Bank; $211,000 Missing

(International News Service) HAMMOND, Ind., Aug. 26.—State bank examiners ordered the North-east Trust and Savings bank of Hammond closed today after announcing that Boleslaw Salik, its secretary and treasurer, had confessed embezzling $211,000.

The closing of the bank was ordered by Deputy Commissioner of Banks Barr, and the arrest of Salik followed immediately. Salik spent last night in jail and was to be arraigned today.

Salik also confessed the theft of funds from the First Polish Building and Loan Association which he served as secretary, bank examiners said.

Order Bank Closed
All the funds taken were lost in real estate speculation and stock market ventures, Salik admitted in his confession to the bank's board of directors and officers of the Building and Loan Association. His speculation had been carried on over a period of two years, he said.

Fear that the final figures of losses suffered by the bank may be somewhat higher than $211,000 was a factor in the decision that the doors of the bank should not open today, state officers admitted.

In accounting for the total of $211,000 Salik said that $140,000 was from the bank and $71,000 from the Building and Loan organization. Salik said he covered up his losses by inducing foreigners to sign duplicate notes, on which he issued duplicate mortgages, selling the bonds on one set and keeping the others in the bank to show as security.

BEGIN ASSESSMENT.
The importance of the next assessment in Mercer county cannot be over emphasized. The values placed on property at this time will stand for three years and the tax levy on the value constitute the county income for that period.

There is no doubt of the fact that there must be a reduction in values if real estate prices are any criterion, it is pointed out.

not reduce the income any and operate. It is suggested that the new property that is added each year may help out in making totals.

CONTAGION LIGHT.
Whatever other discomforts the drought might have sponsored it was healthy the county bureau on public health reports.

For the week ending today there are but three cases of communicable diseases in this county of 100,000 people the record shows. For last week there were but five. In arithmetical progression next should be none. During the same period of time four were released from quarantine.

District Attorney Leo McKay returned to his office today following attendance at a meeting of attorneys held in Chicago.

THORN BACK ON STAGE.
John Thorn joined the George Sharp Players at Pittsburgh today. The company will open Labor Day in the Pitt Theater where they have immortalized themselves by snappy productions the last two seasons.

SUES OVER CRASH.

New Castle And Pittsburgh One Hour's Trip Via Auto; Due To New Perry Highway

New Castle and Pittsburgh are but an hour apart by auto travel, as a result of the completion of the new Perry highway between the two cities, according to C. V. Shoup, of West View, president of the West View Board of Trade and Secretary of the Allied Boards of Trade of Allegheny County.

Mr. Shoup was in this city yesterday afternoon, and reported that it required just 47 minutes time to reach New Castle from the edge of Pittsburgh, via the new highway. He left Perry and East streets on the North side, Pittsburgh, at 1:30 and at 2:30 he was in New Castle.

The new Perry highway is a fine piece of road, and there are but two changes that are needed to make it entirely satisfactory, between New Castle and Pittsburgh, Mr. Shoup says. There are two curves, one between Pine creek and the entrance to North Park, and the other the Horse Shoe Bend at West View, that should be eliminated.

The highway, between Portersville and Mercer, through Lawrence county, is the finest piece of road, and the easiest to travel of any similar stretch in the entire state of Pennsylvania, according to Mr. Shoup, who has traveled over most every mile of road in the state, some of it many times.

Preservation Of Polar Martyrs Being Planned

Would Preserve Bodies Of Salomon Auguste Andree And His Companions

FISHING BOAT CARRIES BODIES

(International News Service)
STOCKHOLM, Aug. 26.—The problem of preservation of the bodies of the polar explorer Salomon Auguste Andree and two companions who perished with him 33 years ago in man's first attempt to reach the north pole was under advisement today by a commission of experts.

The captain of the fishing boat Ternigen, who first informed the world of the dramatic discovery in the frozen wastes of the far north, said Andree's body and that of his companion, Nils Strindberg, remained intact and are being brought to Norway by Dr. G. Horn of the sealing boat Bratvaag, wrapped in sailcloth and salt.

The body of the third balloonist, Knut Fraenkel, was believed aboard the Bratvaag as it was found in the canvas boat, disturbed somewhat by polar bears. Three rifles, two cases of instruments, harpoon, fishing tackle, Andree's diary and the bones of a polar bear also are on the boat. When the Bratvaag docks she will be greeted by government ships. The bodies in all probability will be placed in a church here or elsewhere and a monument will be erected on the spot on White Island where the bodies were found.

South Carolinians At Polls Today In Democratic Primary

Senator Coleman L. Blease Faces Tough Fight To Retain Senate Seat

(International News Service)
CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 26.—Senator Coleman L. Blease, who has startled the senate time and again with his fiery speeches, faced one of the hardest political battles of his career today as South Carolina Democrats went to the polls to select a whole ticket of party candidates.

Friends of the senator predicted his nomination over James F. Byrnes, veteran Democratic representative, and Leon Harris, a World War veteran.

Blease's fight overshadowed the various fights for state offices, including a free-for-all for the governorship. Blease attracted unusual interest because of his recent "to hell with the constitution" speech, his defense of lynching and his frequent attacks on liquor-drinking diplomats. The whole senatorial campaign was based on Blease's record, although prohibition played but a small part in spite of his declaration that he would "take a drink" anytime.

In his campaign, Blease sought to make "white supremacy" the chief issue. It was in line with this issue that he publicly condoned lynching to protect southern womanhood.

GET LONG TERMS FOR DEER KILLING

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—Three jail sentences which totaled almost seven years and fines in two other cases aggregating $1,100 have been imposed on a group of illegal deer hunters in Huntingdon county, according to an announcement by the game commission today.

The fines and sentences recently were imposed by the county court upon appeals had been taken from previous hearings. Others involved in the wholesale slaughter of deer paid fines on a variety of charges soon after their arrest.

When officers descended upon the camp they found several deer and violations of the game laws that all of those involved were arraigned on a number of charges.

In addition to hunting without a camp roster, several of the men were prosecuted on having been implicated in the killing of 11 deer in excess of the legal limit. All of the excess deer were doers or illegal bucks.

For this part in the killings J. R. Colgate, Shirleyburg, paid a fine of $700 and L. B. Smith, Mill Creek, was assessed $400. Failure to pay fines imposed resulted in the following jail sentences—O. B. Smith, Shirleyburg, 782 days; Harry Pink, Huntingdon, R. D., 879 days, and Milton Merritt, also of Huntingdon, R. D., 834.

Successful prosecution of the crowd of illegal deer hunters is the second big roundup of such violators made within a year, commission officials said.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Loft Of Pigeons Requires Fifty Pounds Feed A Week

Racing pigeons know how to fly like nobody's business—that is an established and admitted fact. But when you consider how much feed a pigeon can get away with in one day, why, it is a good thing that the birds have some good tricks for if they didn't they would have empty stomachs most of the time.

It requires 300 pounds of grain every six or seven weeks to feed the pigeons in the Turner loft, at the corner of N. Cedar street and E. Clayton street. There are somewhere near a hundred birds in the loft. The birds eat, eat, eat and when the 300 pounds are gone they are on again ready for more.

But when the birds fly 400 or 500 miles in so short a time they are worth several hundred times their weight in feed. Interesting things—like nobody's business—that is an established and admitted fact. But when you consider how much feed a pigeon can get away with in one day, why, it is a good thing that the birds have some good tricks for if they didn't they would have empty stomachs most of the time.

Requisition Papers Sent To Harrisburg

Two Elmira, N. Y., Men Re-Arrested On Statutory Charge Made By Young Girl

(International News Service)
TOWANDA, Pa., Aug. 26.—Requisition papers for the return from New York state of John Colorado and John Sweeney today were enroute from here to Harrisburg, following an order issued by Judge Charles M. Culver late yesterday for the rearrest of the men on a statutory charge.

Both men, from Elmira, N. Y., were arrested some time ago on a similar charge preferred by Leora Rothwell of Towanda, who was said to be 14 years old.

When the case was called, the defendants through their attorney introduced in court a birth certificate showing the Rothwell girl was born in 1916 instead of 1912. On presentation of that evidence, the charge was changed and both men were fined.

Rearrest of the men and their extradition from New York, it was disclosed today, came as the result of an investigation made by District Attorney William Rosenfield. Rosenfield told Judge Culver he had gone to Harrisburg and at the state bureau of vital statistics had found that the girl's birth certificate had been altered, the year of birth changed, and was told it had been done at the request of Charles E. Mills, former chairman of the Bradco county Republican committee and attorney for Colorado and Sweeney.

Point Marion Fire Damage Is $50,000

Lumber Company, Four Other Buildings Damaged By Flames—Fire Under Control

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 26.—Fire of undetermined origin early today destroyed the Lockhard Lumber company plant at Point Marion, near here, damaged four other buildings and for a time seriously menaced the entire business section of the village. Loss was estimated at $50,000. Starting in the lumber plant, the flames swept swiftly to an unoccupied building owned by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, a garage, a store and two residences.

The Capelli Brothers grocery store, and the two residences occupied by Frank Dufour and Mrs. W. T. Carroll were only slightly damaged. Firemen from Uniontown answered the alarm and battled for several hours before bringing the flames under control.

8. Nathaniel Greene—The Battle Of Bunker Hill

NOTE: THE BATTLE TOOK ITS NAME FROM BUNKER HILL A MUCH HIGHER EMINENCE BEHIND BREEDS HILL.

IN THE AFTERNOON OF JUNE 17, 1775, A MAGNIFICENT FORCE OF BRITISH REDCOATS MARCHING AS STEADILY AS THOUGH ON PARADE, MOVED UP THE SLOPE OF BREEDS HILL TO STORM THE AMERICAN FORTIFICATIONS ON THE CREST.

DON'T FIRE UNTIL YOU SEE THE WHITES OF THEIR EYES!

BEHIND THE EARTHEN PARAPET ON BREEDS HILL THE AMERICANS OF COL. PRESCOTT'S COMMAND CROUCHED, WAITING SILENTLY. NOT A MUSKET SPOKE UNTIL THE BRITISH CAME WITHIN 50 PACES. THEN A WITHERING FIRE WAS POURED INTO THEIR DENSE RANKS.

TWICE THE BRITISH RECOILED BEFORE THE HAIL OF BULLETS AND DEADLY AIM OF THE DEFENDERS. THE SLOPE WAS SCARLET WITH FALLEN BRITONS. SUDDENLY THE HEAVY FIRING FROM THE HILLTOP CEASED. THE AMERICANS HAD RUN OUT OF AMMUNITION!

(Copyright, 1930, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

THE REDCOATS FORMED AGAIN AND SWEEPED UP THE HILL AND OVER THE PARAPET WITH FLASHING BAYONETS. FIGHTING DESPERATELY TO THE LAST, WITH ONLY CLUBBED RIFLES AND STONES FOR WEAPONS, THE AMERICANS WERE DRIVEN FROM THE HILL.

FORTY THREE GRIDDERS AT MEETING LAST NIGHT

Close To 35 Gridders Will Be Taken To Camp Which Opens September 1

Most Of Candidates Have Seen Action On Gridiron; First Game September 19

Close to 45 hopeful football candidates for positions on the 1930-31 New Castle High school eleven were present at the football meeting for the purpose of selecting those who will make up fall training camp, on Monday night, at the Senior high school. Out of this number Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh selected 25 to open fall camp at Muddy Creek Falls on Monday morning September 1.

Several of the candidates were not present at the session. When camp opens about 25 will report. After rounding the prospective gridders in Room 17 at the high school, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner gave the boys a little talk concerning camp. He told the boys what to bring out to camp. He stated that due to the short length of time the gridders will have to get down to business immediately as camp closes on September 8, one week after it opens.

Gardner has been out all summer and has the camp in readiness for the husky gridders. His job is to feed and take care of the wants of the gridders. If you think this isn't a job just try it. Following Gardner's short speech Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh took the stand for the purpose of selecting those he desires to go to camp.

First Bridenbaugh stated that due to a late start the boys will have to work hard for after one week following the close of camp New Castle plays Coraopolis in a night game. The first practice will be held on Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The second rehearsal will take place on Monday afternoon.

Most of the gridders are not new to Coach Bridenbaugh, due to spring football training and a spring night game with Clancy which gave the head coach an opportunity to see what he had for this coming season. Most of the players have seen action. There were only a few new faces.

Among the veterans from last fall are "Regis" McAuley, Robert Hosen, Robert Jamison, Nick Uram, Dick Thomas, Harry Crisci, Fred Hileman, Ludwig Ostrosky, Fred Fabian, Mike DeCarbo, Andy Lasky, Coy Hibbard, George Deep, Dick Thomas, Louis Greensburg, John Uram, William Ciccone, William Kazenski, Steve Janovick, Luther Rowe, and William Bender. Three gridders who saw action and on the gridiron and who were not present at the meeting are Pericles Askounes, Charles Schep, and James Mike.

George Deep, veteran tackle will be eligible to play only two games. The following boys were given pants and shoes to take to camp: Bob Hosen, Bob Jamison, Harry Crisci, Regis McAuley, Nick Uram, Dick Thomas, Ludwig Ostrosky, Fred Fabian, Mike DeCarbo, Andy Lasky, Coy Hibbard, George Deep, Dick Thomas, Louis Greensburg, John Uram, William Ciccone, William Kazenski, LeRoy Turk, Luther Rowe, William Bender, Dom Polise, Tony Cooper, Tom Rambo, Harold Workman, Steve Janovick, and John Grommes.

James Mike, Charles Schep, and Pericles Askounes will more than likely report to camp by next Monday.

"Ted" Blaner Wins Golfing Honors

"Ted" Blaner, Westminster College student and golfer extraordinary, won himself a new title the other day at Sharon Buhl Farm links when he defeated Fred Hunt 11 up and 9 to play in the 1930 Herald-Tribune Farm golf tournament. Blaner turned in a card of 103 for 27 holes which is real golf, and divided into nine holes reads 33, 36, and 34. His opponent had 29, 38, and 38, but it was hole for hole play and Blaner had a big lead at the end of the 27 holes.

Blaner has played the Municipal course here but once and for the first-nine holes was in a 40, which is two over par.

New York Giants Still In Battle For League Flag

Manager John McGraw Has Hopes Of Pulling Giants To Top Of Heap

CHICAGO CUBS HAVE BIG EDGE

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Word is being bandied about today that Jewel Ens, who became manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates last year before his presence of mind could come to the rescue, may finish on the shady side of the eight-ball as far as the 1931 season is concerned, which reminds me that the Giants are back home with John McGraw after their collapse in Chicago. In order to keep the record straight, the Giants alone collapsed in Chicago. Mr. McGraw was exclusive. He did his collapsing here.

Anyhow, it is not my purpose to compare Mr. McGraw with Jewel Ens, who after all never suspected he was a manager, until Barney Dreyfuss told him he was; yet the fact is that Ens will do no worse than fourth with a four-place club—considering his sundry injuries—whereas Mr. McGraw seems about to finish second with the best team in the National League, if not in all baseball.

I wouldn't care to say that the parade, so to speak, has passed Mr. McGraw. He has won no pennants in six years but he hasn't lost this one yet and, besides, it has always been a principle with me to make sure that a man is down before you kick him. Assuming that the Cubs will win this time—and, after all, one is entitled to assume something for another year of experience together. They at present are hitting away out beyond any rival in any league. They have one of the four great infields of all baseball. Their outfield is a little better than fair and their catching is a little better than good. Even the pitching has come along in recent weeks; yet the Giants this morning are five games behind the Cubs.

Not Out Yet
I don't profess to know the answer. Maybe there just isn't any. Even if that were true, however, it would constitute an indirect or negative reflection on the man in charge for when success eludes an organization that should be successful, the field boss should have more than a remote idea why this is so. If we don't he is admitting tacitly that he doesn't know what is going on in his official family.

At that, the Giants still have the month of September on the Polo Grounds and it is precedent that they always come with a rush under these conditions. In the last six years, the trouble has been that they had to prove it this year. First, Little Wagon was out for three months. Then a foul trade was made for Grimes. Followed then injuries to Traynor, Swetonic, Brame and others.

All in all, I should say Mr. Ens has done very well to finish before Christmas.

Soccer Players To Meet On Wednesday

Any soccer players desirous of a tryout with the New Castle Soccer team this year are asked to report to Scotland Lane Field at 6 o'clock on Wednesday night. The first practice of the year will be "aged."

New Castle is expected to be well represented this year in the Beaver Valley League, and will put on one of the strongest teams of all years on the field to vie for the championship.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Willie Davies, Charleroi, won the decision over Frankie Anselm, Spanish negro, now of New York, in a pleasing 10-round bout at Braddock last night. Excepting for the fourth and fifth round Davies was Anselm's master. Davies sustained a cut above an eye in the first round.

Wilson Charles, a full-blooded Oneida Indian from Haskell, won the decaathlon yesterday in the A. A. U. track and field championships. To win the decaathlon the Indian was forced to exert his best efforts to the last event, a 1,500-meter run.

Fred Pusch of Grove City finished tenth and Lou Peresely, Westminster boy wearing the colors of the Union A. C., finished 11th. Charles to win scored 7313.343 points. Herman Briz, Los Angeles, was second with 7119.605 and Joe Hall, Florida U., third, with 7075.071.

Local fighters are yearning for action and it looks as though they will soon get their chance to show again in rings in this vicinity. Battling Terry has a group of four, headed by Frankie Frey, who formerly boxed for Dygert and Smith. Lefty Horcher has drifted from Chuck Edmunds to Jimmie Dime.

Talking the other night Jackie King of Wampum said he would be ready for any of the boys when the fall weather arrived and it is possible that he will commence getting himself in condition. Jimmie Dime has a new heavyweight. His name is Velange and he comes from Youngstown.

Terry was a fighter and knows what a youngster should do and there is no question about Dime's ability to impart knowledge of punch to battlers. Dygert and Smith had fairly good luck with Frey who staged some good bouts here. Horcher won practically all his bouts but one.

North Highland Beats All-Stars

Johnson and Bob Lamoree, won the city senior doubles championship by defeating Al Lewis and "Bub" Jones in straight sets 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, while Raymond Must and Frank Viggiano won the junior doubles championship by defeating Reider and Emery in straight sets 6-0, 6-1, 6-1. Some fine tennis was played last night in the winning of the titles.

Mayor Gillespie following the final match game stepped to the center of the court and amid complete silence handed Johnson and Lamoree, Raymond Must and Frank Viggiano their cups. George Johnson and Raymond Must shared the doubles cups, and also took the singles cups, so these boys were very much in the tourney.

The Mayor's speech in part—"These cups are yours to defend as you would your own home. Sears, Roebuck has made it possible for you to receive these handsome trophies of your prowess on the tennis courts, and through this tourney they have created more interest in tennis than has ever been created in New Castle before. Tournaments of this kind are a credit to any city, and I am proud to present to you tokens of your victory. I only hope that this is the start of what will become an annual event in New Castle, because it means much to the youngsters and grown-ups of New Castle who are tennis addicts."

D. Wiley manager of Sears, Roebuck wishes to thank all those who helped make the tournament a big success, including the New Castle Field Club, and Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson for the use of their courts, the city of New Castle, Tom Lewis, Hymie Levine for their services, and the New Castle News for their publicity. Tully Canara erected the tourney and comes in for his share of praise for the way the tournament turned out.

Haskell Institute Indian And Los Angeles Youth Grab Off Track Honors

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—Two highly diversified types of young Americans, the one a bronzed, impassive Indian from Haskell Institute, and the other a light-haired, smiling giant from Los Angeles, reached the heights of athletic achievement today after holding the spotlight on the third and final day of the annual A. Bells To Peal Out "School Days" For Many Kiddies Here

School In Readiness For First Day, Wednesday, September Third

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26.—Just one week from tomorrow and the school bell will peal out its clear call "School Days, School Days," to be followed by glad running feet whose owners can hardly wait for this day of days, the first day of school.

How wonderful is that first day. Little Jane all excited, her face shiny with fresh soap and water and her bright colored smock vying with the brightness of her eyes, must examine—just everything.

The new books, the pads and pencils which replace the slates and sponges of yesterday. The colored papers, the cut-outs, everything is interesting.

Several thousand pads and pencils have arrived at each local building all ready for the use of big and little people as they labor in the great art of learning.

Last year there were 3,600 children when school closed and according to the present census several hundred will be added to the enrollment of last year.

Twenty-eight new teachers will be placed in the Ellwood schools, replacing those resigning and others of 1930. The new dental hygienist has not as yet been selected, but the new equipment furnished by the Kiwanis Club has been installed and children will be taught the proper care and will be given information concerning the condition of their teeth.

Professor J. E. Bell in the Lincoln high school building will be assisted by R. C. Shaffer, V. R. DeLong will be principal of Hartman and North Side buildings, Miss Mildred Sanders of Central, Miss Mary Humphrey of Circle, Miss Ascha Jackson of West End and Miss Helma Dahl, Ewing Park.

Everything is ready for the long winter term. Coal has been shoveled into the cellars by the ton load, the windows have been shined most recently, the floors oiled or waxed as the case might be, and much of the woodwork cleaned and some painted.

Wastepaper baskets, recently emptied, stand ready to tempt the little boy who always carries a noisy rattle shooter or possibly a jolly yo-yo toy. Here wads of gum invariably find their last resting place before plunging into the hot depths of the furnace.

Nice shiny blackboards invite the long pieces of white chalk which always break into small bits when one is not accustomed to writing with them. And last but not least, come the hours after school when you help teacher clean the board and dust the erasers.

Beginners Have Party In Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 26.—Eighteen children gathered in the banquet hall of the First Presbyterian church in response to attractive bird invitations. They were received by the hostesses, Miss Helen Brown, Miss Pauline Jackson, Miss Muriel Bourne and Miss Mary Goehring.

The afternoon was filled with fun for all, with contests such as punning the trunk on the elephant, cutting out paper dolls, etc. Little Jimmy Mackasek succeeded in the elephant stunt for which he received a reward.

Stories were told to the children before they were invited to the long table where the party was served, amidst a flurry of colors carried out in garden flowers and bright napkins.

Each child was made additionally happy at the conclusion of the afternoon with a bright balloon.

Another squabble took place last night at the Leigh-Tin Mill game. The Leigh team won the game as a result of the umpire's decision in calling the game because of darkness. Manager Fraser of the Tin Mill team has appealed to President Walther, and it is likely that the league mogul will order the game played over. The score was tied in the ninth and the inning was not finished. It seems that an effort might have been made to finish the game.

The following summary of the Leigh-Tin Mill game has been submitted to the News:

Score by innings:

The game was called in the ninth before the Leigh could bat, and thus it is claimed the score should revert back to the eighth inning which gives the Leigh team a victory 9 to 8.

It is hoped that the championship series between the Industrial and Mercantile league can start next week.

German Fliers Ready At Halifax To Start For New York City

(International News Service)
HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 26.—Sunset today in all probability will see the Dornier-Wal seaplane D-1422 piloted by Captain Wolfgang von Gronau, winging its way over the New York skyscrapers, provided weather conditions favor the hop-off today on the last lap of a flight from Germany to the United States.

Von Gronau and his three companions were up early after arriving yesterday from Queensport and mooring here at the Halifax Flying Club on the waters of Bedford Basin. Fog impeded the hop here, resulting in a landing at the little fishing village of Marie Joseph. Spying a rift in the confusing cloud banks, Captain von Gronau brought his plane down in the bay to inquire about weather conditions ahead, thus considerably delaying his arrival at Halifax.

Will Ask Death Penalty For Trio Of Young Thugs

Cleveland Prosecutor Will Demand Chair For Slayers Of Wilkison

SLAYING FOLLOWS HOLDUP OF PARTY

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—Three Cleveland youths, with ages ranging from 16 to 20 years, faced hearings before the Cuyahoga county grand jury today on charges of first degree murder, following their arraignment last night in connection with the death of Miller Wilkison, 21, which occurred during an attempted holdup of an engagement party held at a Shaker Heights home early yesterday morning.

The youths, Mike Bell, 16; Ross Valore, 19, and Angelo Bell, 20, waived preliminary examination. The latter youth was arraigned as he lay in his bed at St. Luke's hospital suffering from a bullet wound in his right knee received during the attempted holdup.

The electric chair will be asked for all three of the youthful robbers, according to First Assistant County Prosecutor P. L. A. Lighley.

Wilkison, a Princeton university senior, was shot in the forehead during a scuffle of guests at the party with the three youths as they attempted to rob the party. He died in a hospital a few hours later. Angelo Bell and his brother Mike, who received a bullet wound in his right arm, were shot by their own guns, according to police. They were arrested a short distance from the scene of the shooting. Valore, who has denied

Need For Care In Water Source Has Not Been Abated

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—Dr. John L. Laird, director of the Pennsylvania state health department's laboratories, today again warned the rural population throughout the commonwealth in those districts where water shortages still exist that unless emergency supplies have been tested and approved by department personnel or by private bacteriologists, no chances should be taken with the water for drinking purposes. In the event of doubt, all water intended for potable purposes should be boiled for at least 15 minutes or one drop of old tincture of iodine should be added to each quart of water.

"So far, the typhoid fever menace has not developed. But the hazard is by no means passed," said Doctor Laird. "There is a probability that, with occasional showers and the stringency of the drought being temporarily abated in some sections, the unusual caution and care which have been exercised on the part of those living in sections not supplied with municipal water service will be forgotten. Too much emphasis can not be placed upon a continued care on the part of every individual who has been forced to use a supply, the safety of which has not been guaranteed by recent tests."

Children's Home Damaged By Fire

Eighty-Five Children Made Homeless By Fire At Delaware, Ohio

(International News Service)
DELAWARE O., Aug. 26.—Eighty-five children were without homes today as a result of a fire which destroyed the three story brick children's home of which they were inmates.

At the time of the fire most of the children were in the back yard while a score of small ones were carried out by attendants as the alarm sounded.

A number of nearby public institutions prepared to care for the homeless children until definite arrangements for their housing can be made.

Older boys carried out most of the furniture from the home.

German Invited To Fly Plane To National Races

Chicago Air Race Board Chairman Wires Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Informed that the latest airplane to cross from Europe to America has been requested to proceed here for the national air races, Earl H. Reynolds, president of the board of the Chicago Air Race corporation, today dispatched an invitation to Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau to continue his transoceanic flight to Chicago.

According to word received here, the Dornier company, builder of the Dornier-Wal seaplane D-1422, has cabled their American office, requesting the fliers to continue on to Chicago for the national air races.

Air race officials immediately sent a message to the German ambassador in Washington requesting that the ocean fliers be invited to proceed to Chicago.

Gasoline Dealer Who Kept Taxes Gets Jail Term

HARRISBURG, Aug. 26.—The Dauphin County Court has gained the distinction of being the first in Pennsylvania to sentence to jail a gasoline dealer convicted of holding out the State tax. Attaches of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles Department of Revenue have a long list of delinquent dealers from whom they are endeavoring to collect this tax. It is declared that informations will be made against numerous dealers within the next thirty days.

Pennsylvania newspapers are a unit in the declaration that tax hold-outs must be brought to book. Concerning the Dauphin Countyman sentenced to jail a local paper said editorially: "It seems a stupid thing for a dealer to do. He ought to have known that sooner or later he would be caught and still the impression is that he is not the only one who collects the tax from the motorist and forgets about it. Every motorist has a very personal interest in seeing that the tax he pays on his gas reaches its proper destination. It is not especially delightful to pay the tax even when it reaches the State but the knowledge that the tax stops with the dealer is very irritating."

BURNED BOYS ARE FIGHTING FOR LIFE

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 26.—Eugene Fisher and William Cannon, the two boys burned in a fatal fire which swept the Besencker skating rink in Evans City Saturday, were near death, it was stated at the Butler County Memorial hospital today.

The youths were burned about their faces and bodies when gasoline exploded near a grinding machine on which they and Leonard L. Bosnecker, proprietor of the rink, were polishing skates.

Yet never in history has a law failed to work if it was suggested by the public's conscience instead of the king's.

The ELIZABETH ARDEN method—which keeps your skin healthy—will keep it lovely too

NO CREAM transforms the skin. But scientific care, which encourages swift circulation through the tissues and keeps the skin cells vividly healthy, will make your skin clear, soft and firm. This is the foundation of the Elizabeth Arden method. Cleansing the skin—with Elizabeth Arden's Venetian Creaming Cream—removes impurities which clog the pores and cause blackheads. Brisk patting—with Ardena Skin Tonic and Special Astringent—tones the skin and firms the contours. Nourishing—with Orange Skin Food or the delicate Velva Cream—fills out the skin cells and corrects lines and wrinkles. Follow this same method in the care of your skin at home.

See Hard Winter Ahead For Birds

Grove City Wild Lifers Claim Much Of Food Destroyed By Recent Drought

GROVE CITY, Aug. 26.—A tough winter is ahead in the opinion of members of the wild life league who have been tramping field and woods during the training season for dogs.

Vegetation on which they feed is burned to a crisp with plants and seeds of weeds worthless this year for food due to heat and drought.

Two tons of food were distributed by humanitarian agencies in the country last winter.

The amount will have to be doubled if the feathered tribe is to be saved during this coming season.

The law is explicit and the penalty loss of the animal and a possible fine.

DOG SEEKS MASTER

Slippery Rock news today lists a fox terrier of pure bred lineage with a Lawrence county tag 1999.

The dog refuses to be comforted and keeps up a mixed howl and whine. He is parked at the most prominent corner in town where he minutely inspects each car that passes which make those in sympathy think that maybe he was dropped out of a passing car purposely.

AM, BUT THE PRESTIGE

"Why don't you buy a bicycle, Pat?" said his neighbor. "You will find it useful in going back and forth to work."

"Faith," said Pat. "I'd as soon walk as ride afoot."—Exchange.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

COUNTLESS WORLDS
How many worlds about us are!
My dog discovers things I miss.
Can scent strange miracles afar
And hear queer creatures move and hiss.
An insect in his tiny way
Sees marvelous things in sand and clay.

The robin nesting in a tree
Lives in a world that's all its own.
Sees charm our eyes shall never see.
Knows majesties to us unknown.
An ant within its world may face
Problems of honor and disgrace.

We see the beauty of the flowers.
But bees, I fancy see much more.
Having a subtler strength than ours.
The hearts of roses they explore.
And they may try to puzzle out
What human creatures are about.

We have the wisdom of our kind.
Our world wherein we live and die.
Yet many world's are here designed
And into them no man can spy.
Perhaps a spider thinks that he
Lucky a spider is to be.
